Toward Pescara

Canucks Move Ahead Through Mined Ground

NEW YORK, Dec. 31.—(AP)—The Italian Bari radio said today that the Allied 5th Army had captured the fortified village of San Vittore near Cassino on the road to Rome. The Bari radio is controlled by the Badoglio government.

Canucks, Dec. 31.—Canadian troops pushing toward Pescara, 11 miles north of wrecked Ortona, gained another mile through German minefields, booby traps and mud while British infantry and tanks, after German counter-attacks, struck across the Garigliano river at the western end of the Italian front. It was announced today.

The immediate objective of the British thrust was the Tyrrhenian road junction of Minturno and official accounts said the attacking forces forced the river near its mouth. Apparently it was the same action in which the German radio claimed that Allied troops were "twisted" after an amphibious landing in the direction of Alimonte on Wednesday.
Reinforcement of German forces south of the road junction was believed to be the aim of the thrust details of which were lacking.
SHELL BOTTLENECK
The daily communiqué reported patrol activity all across the Italian front and Fifth Army artillery had begun shelling the town of Mignano, the bottleneck between the mountains on both sides of the road to Rome.

WITH CANADIANS IN ITALY, Dec. 31.—(CP)—Canadian 1st Division troops maintained their advance toward the line of the little Tevere river southwest of Ortona yesterday under harassing fire from enemy artillery and mortars but met no determined opposition.

Hundreds of Planes Carry Out Widespread Raids Bombers Attack Invasion Coast, Paris Area

By PHIL AULT
Exclusive to The Edmonton Bulletin
LONDON, Dec. 31.—Allied air forces launched a heavy assault on Germany's invasion defence in France today, and Axis radio reports indicated U.S. heavy bombers had attacked the Paris area.

Seemingly the attack at day-break, hundreds of Allied bombers and fighters shuttled across the narrow Dover Straits for hours in a shattering assault on the French channel coast that observers interpreted as the opening gun in an offensive to blast a path into western Europe for the Anglo-American invasion armies.

Hours later, a big formation of American heavy bombers, supported by R.A.F. and U.S. fighters, thundered over the continent to batter a target officially identified only as France.

The Paris radio, however, reported that Allied planes raided objectives in the Paris area shortly before dawn.

OBJECTIVE SECRET
Allied military spokesmen maintained a tight silence about the objective of the terrific cross-channel bombing assault, which brought out Continued on Page 2, Col. 4.

Hitler Message Holds No Cheer

LONDON, Dec. 31.—(CP)—Hitler's message today that "in this war there will be no victors and losers but merely survivors or annihilated."

"We realize that this is a merciless struggle in which the question is to be, or not to be, and therefore must and unfortunately will be, continued by us in the same merciless manner," said the message as broadcast from Berlin.
Hitler's cheerless greeting to the home front began with the familiar charge that Germany had been thrust upon her, and then turned into a hymn of hate against Britain with this twist: Britain has lost her balance of power position and in the mercy of her Allies. He said Britain had forgotten that only Britain could profit from the war.

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, New Guinea, Dec. 31.—U.S. Marines in northwestern New Britain killed more than 500 Japanese in capturing the key Cape Gloucester airdrome and 250 others in beating off counter-attacks on their flanks, it was announced today.

The jungle veterans of Guadalcanal won the two bomb-battered airstrips with bayonet charges, backed by flame-throwers, tanks and artillery. Wednesday night and Thursday morning, five days after they swarmed ashore 27 miles southwest of the Japanese bastion of Rabaul.
The victory ended all organized resistance on Cape Gloucester and the remnants of a Japanese force estimated originally at several thousand fled to the hills behind the cape. With the capture of the airdrome, the Americans completed the control of the western approaches to Rabaul and mounted a growing threat to enemy shipping and bases throughout the Bismarck Sea.
The larger step in the capture of the cape to MacArthur's message.
"I have the honor to present you Cape Gloucester as a New Year's present."
MacArthur responded with a personal visit to Krueger's field headquarters, presumably to plot the next step in the southwest Pacific campaign.

Big Increase Bank Clearings Serve as Guide To Expansion

Indicators of the commercial and industrial expansion of Edmonton under the impetus of the nation's war effort is the fact that for the second successive year bank clearings through the city's chartered banks exceed the previous year by more than $10,000,000.
Clearings for the 12-month period ended Dec. 31, 1943 amounted to $423,430,208.73 compared with $323,042,824.34 for the same period last year, an increase of $100,385,384.39. The 1943 increase was $10,000,000 above 1941.

Bank clearings during December 1943 amounted to $35,201,232.32 compared with $25,102,228.28, an increase of $10,099,004.04.

Keeping pace with the growth of the city the population of greater Edmonton is estimated to have increased to approximately 120,000.

Building permits issued during the year will show an increase of approximately 100 per cent over the 1942 figures. Up to the end of November 1943 the total of permits issued was $3,674,325 compared with $2,309,420, and substantial permits have been taken out during December.

Sales of city-owned land through December 31, 1943, amounted to $2,720,000.

Duke of York's Guns Crippled Nazi Battleship

LONDON, Dec. 31.—(CP)—The British battleship Duke of York scored the longest-range naval water kill on the Nazi battleship Scharnhorst which crippled the 20,000-ton warship and led to her destruction. The Admiralty announced today.

The Admiralty's report, based on further information received from the British fleet, disclosed that two forces of British destroyers attacked the Scharnhorst after the first crippling blow was delivered, and hammered out the Duke of York to close in for the kill.

Once within close range, the British battleships mightily attacked the German ship with a quick end, the account said.

Home Front Advances

Departing Year Is Featured by Many Outstanding Happenings Throughout City, Province of Alberta; Economic Progress Made Despite Wartime Activities

When the busy, wailing infant that is 1944 is laid on the world's doorstep Friday at midnight, along with it will come the greatest question-mark of this time or all time. Whether one will be found at a merry party, trying "Auld Lang Syne" to the skies, whether at work, or at home alone, wishing a Happy New Year to a photograph of a soldier far away, or a thought will course through the mind: "This is 1944. Will it bring peace, a permanent peace, to the world?"
It is a question that the infant of 1944 alone can answer. Whether it leaves next New Year's Day as one to whom monuments will be raised for having stilled the roar of guns, or as one who unleashed

New Productive Expansion Said Need in Canada

By HENRY SHAPIRO
MOSCOW, Dec. 31.—(CP)—Dale, delegates to the C.C.F. national conference last night agreed that continued expansion of economic productive activity in Canada after the war was necessary to place a proper basis for increased social security measures and improved educational systems.

The press committee warned provincial governments that they would be faced with a time when provincial revenues had been used to face realistically the limitations of any C.C.F. provincial government under existing financial and constitutional structures in the financing of greater social activities.

By the C.C.F. policy of the area of Zhitomir and the White Russian bastion of Volynsk, and claimed that 200 Soviet tanks were destroyed in the last two days.

Awards to Civilians Banned in Future

OTTAWA, Dec. 31.—(AP)—Prime Minister Mackenzie King announced today that the New Year's honors list being made public tonight is the last for which the government will recommend awards of orders of chivalry for civilians for the duration of the war.

The government's decision, said Mr. King, does not apply to military awards in the orders of chivalry, nor to awards for gallantry and meritorious service by members of the armed forces in operations.

"It is not the policy of the Canadian government to recommend citizens for honors which carry titles with them, and as the war continues, we are going forward in the Pacific today at a fast speed," he said there was vast difference in the outlook for the Pacific war, recalling that when he was in Washington in March, 1942, he was faced by Japan's plans and saw clearly a sign in Pearl Harbor.

He said that the Pacific war was now a hard during the next few months he will never receive. "Then we can concentrate in the Pacific."

New Productive Expansion Said Need in Canada

The means that provincial governments could use to expand economic activity by the development of industrial and natural resources are being studied by the Dominion government, according to a statement by Mr. C.E. Phillips, director of the Dominion Development Commission.

PRESENTS OUTLINE

David Lewis of Ottawa, national secretary, presented an analysis of the present and projected economic picture in the Dominion, dealing with each province separately. Committees were chosen to consider provincial finances and social security measures.

Mr. Brewin said that through committee discussions it was hoped uniform plans for provincial governments in all parts of the Dominion might be developed.

The committee also considered possible constitutional amendments and financial readjustments as between provinces and the federal government to bring about full production and complete use of economic resources.

Earlier M. J. C. Duggan, Dominion leader, said that economic and social changes, leading to some form of totalitarian dictatorship, would result in Canada if the C.E.P. does not obtain reforms to which it is judged.

Bank Clearings Serve as Guide To Expansion

The bank clearings for the month of December will likely set an all-time record during 1943. Up to the middle of December the sales were more than 100 per cent over the 1942 total, and substantial gains were recorded in sales during the last 15 days of December.

MANY HOMES

It is estimated by civic land department officials that purchases made through the land department for home building purposes make certain that more than 400 homes will be built in Edmonton next year by private individuals. This will be in addition to the 100 homes to be constructed here by Wartime Housing Ltd. in 1944 and the balance of the homes now under construction on the 29th Avenue project. During 1943 more than 900 homes have been erected here, compared with 551 during the 12 months of 1942.

SPECTACULAR

Possibly the most spectacular increase in business activity is that accomplished by Edmonton street railway system. During the 12 months of 1943 the system has carried a steady 30 per cent increase in passengers each month, and the 30,000,000-passenger mark estimated by department officials will be exceeded by the end of November, 1943. 27,813,000 passengers were carried compared with 18,857,000 for the same period of 1942. This is an increase of 46.9 per cent.

As two all-time records for daily revenue were established during November, it is anticipated that the traffic figures for that month will materially exceed December of 1942.

Gross earnings from the five street railway utilities recorded the $500,000 mark for the 12 months of 1943. In record an increase in revenue of more than $1,000,000. It is estimated that approximately $2,000,000 will be paid into the city treasury in taxes and net profits by these utilities this year.

THE EQUIVALENT

This will be equivalent of 22 miles of the present tax rate. The rate reduction of two mills in the 1943 tax year. City Commission John Hodgson is hopeful his current and revised estimates for this year will establish another all-time low collection rate.

Allied Bombers Batter French Invasion Coast

One of the most impressive displays of aerial might might be marred over the occupied continent.

There was every indication, however, that the long-range bombers would be used to soften up Germany's Atlantic wall in preparation for the opening of a second front had begun.

The Paris radio said the tentative death toll in the raid there was about 200. The city had two airmen and a parachute jumper, and three planes in the sunlit sky, the broad east said.

USE HUGE FORCES

Five hundred German and American medium bombers and fighter-bombers set the pace for the inviolated assault yesterday, R.A.F. Mosquitoes followed through last night and the formations of mediums picked up the attack again after dawn today.

Reports from the English south-east coast told of heavy cross-bombing of a clear sky during the first three hours of daylight. The raiders flew at all altitudes, some fighters looping and swooping the waves while other bombers were so high that only their vapor trails could be distinguished.

The weight of the bombardment of Germany's network of ports, airbases and other installations along the French channel coast already had been demonstrated by the Luftwaffe against southern England Aug. 1942 in preparation for the invasion of Britain that never came.

While Allied air forces developed increasing attention to the invasion coast, a big fleet of American bombers and fighters hit southwest Germany—neutral sources said their targets were the chemical center of Ludwigshafen—in daylight yesterday and British bombers raided western Germany last night.

Deep penetration

The spearhead has scored a deep penetration beyond the German frontier, 22 miles northwest of Zimmit, and had paralyzed the highway and railroad between Zimmit and Novograd Volynsk, a center of German military activity. The left wing of Valentin's army was without a highway, its westward movement in taking Kazan, out-fanking Berlin and toward advanced elements on the road to Vienna.

Marshal Fritz Erich von Manstein's battered Nazi legions were reported in panic retreat across western Ukrainian flatlands that offered no natural defenses short of the Bug and Dniester rivers scores of miles to the west and southwest.

In many sectors, the Germans were casting aside weapons in their haste to escape the Soviet juggernaut. Soviet tanks and armor were reported in the Kiev bulge.

ROUT 2 DIVISIONS

Gen. Nikolai F. Vatutin's First Ukrainian Army, in the first week of the year, liberated 100 towns and villages, routed eight tank and 14 infantry divisions of 300,000 men and secured the notched-tooth double-track escape railroad for hundreds of thousands of Germans in the Dnieper bend.

After capturing Kazan, 90 miles southeast of Kiev and junction of the Leningrad-Odesa and Warsaw-Odesa lines, the Soviets pressed on towards Zimmit, 35 miles to the southwest on the direct Berlin-Odesa railroad seizing Belitska, seven miles southeast of Kazan, and only 65 miles from old Romania.

The fall of Zimmit would cut the last railroad of the Dnieper bend and doom the huge German armies there to death, capture or a hazardous escape by sea under the guns of the Soviet Black Sea fleet or by inferior land communications to Romania.

HEAVY ASSAULT

The German garrison of Kuznetsov, an important rail hub, was rushed to the front only a few days earlier, was put to rout by the Soviet tanks of the Dnieper bend. The Russian night-time communiqué said the Germans abandoned 100 guns, many tanks, trucks, tanks, arms, an armored train, seven

Heroic Action Of Two Airmen Aided Forces

One of the most impressive displays of aerial might might be marred over the occupied continent.

There was every indication, however, that the long-range bombers would be used to soften up Germany's Atlantic wall in preparation for the opening of a second front had begun.

The Paris radio said the tentative death toll in the raid there was about 200. The city had two airmen and a parachute jumper, and three planes in the sunlit sky, the broad east said.

USE HUGE FORCES

Five hundred German and American medium bombers and fighter-bombers set the pace for the inviolated assault yesterday, R.A.F. Mosquitoes followed through last night and the formations of mediums picked up the attack again after dawn today.

Reports from the English south-east coast told of heavy cross-bombing of a clear sky during the first three hours of daylight. The raiders flew at all altitudes, some fighters looping and swooping the waves while other bombers were so high that only their vapor trails could be distinguished.

The weight of the bombardment of Germany's network of ports, airbases and other installations along the French channel coast already had been demonstrated by the Luftwaffe against southern England Aug. 1942 in preparation for the invasion of Britain that never came.

While Allied air forces developed increasing attention to the invasion coast, a big fleet of American bombers and fighters hit southwest Germany—neutral sources said their targets were the chemical center of Ludwigshafen—in daylight yesterday and British bombers raided western Germany last night.

Deep penetration

The spearhead has scored a deep penetration beyond the German frontier, 22 miles northwest of Zimmit, and had paralyzed the highway and railroad between Zimmit and Novograd Volynsk, a center of German military activity. The left wing of Valentin's army was without a highway, its westward movement in taking Kazan, out-fanking Berlin and toward advanced elements on the road to Vienna.

Marshal Fritz Erich von Manstein's battered Nazi legions were reported in panic retreat across western Ukrainian flatlands that offered no natural defenses short of the Bug and Dniester rivers scores of miles to the west and southwest.

In many sectors, the Germans were casting aside weapons in their haste to escape the Soviet juggernaut. Soviet tanks and armor were reported in the Kiev bulge.

ROUT 2 DIVISIONS

Gen. Nikolai F. Vatutin's First Ukrainian Army, in the first week of the year, liberated 100 towns and villages, routed eight tank and 14 infantry divisions of 300,000 men and secured the notched-tooth double-track escape railroad for hundreds of thousands of Germans in the Dnieper bend.

After capturing Kazan, 90 miles southeast of Kiev and junction of the Leningrad-Odesa and Warsaw-Odesa lines, the Soviets pressed on towards Zimmit, 35 miles to the southwest on the direct Berlin-Odesa railroad seizing Belitska, seven miles southeast of Kazan, and only 65 miles from old Romania.

The fall of Zimmit would cut the last railroad of the Dnieper bend and doom the huge German armies there to death, capture or a hazardous escape by sea under the guns of the Soviet Black Sea fleet or by inferior land communications to Romania.

HEAVY ASSAULT

The German garrison of Kuznetsov, an important rail hub, was rushed to the front only a few days earlier, was put to rout by the Soviet tanks of the Dnieper bend. The Russian night-time communiqué said the Germans abandoned 100 guns, many tanks, trucks, tanks, arms, an armored train, seven

After Great Battle Soldiers From West Rest In Black Ruins of Ortona

By DOUGLAS AMARON

WITH CANADIANS IN ITALY, Dec. 31.—(CPI)—The ruins of Ortona are firmly in Canadian hands, cleared of the enemy who had turned its streets into a battlefield, its houses into fortresses.

The Germans quit the town, where day and night battles had been raging for a week, early Tuesday morning. They left behind in the rubble of what once were buildings, only their mines, booby traps and their dead.

By Tuesday night the fighting had moved south along the Ortona-Pescara road where western Canadian infantry are nursing the wounded, while other westerners wait to whom battle, to honor credit for driving the Germans from Ortona are getting their first rest in seven days.

END CASE QUICKLY

The end of the Ortona battle and with it the end of the three-week fight for the town have given the Canadians a sense of relief. The Germans fought stubbornly, almost fanatically right up to Monday night. Then they quit, only on orders.

There was only slight rejoicing at the end of this fight. Civilians left in the town were too tired to realize the enemy had gone. The Canadians were almost buried in bullets and shells and too tired to care.

In one of the town's main squares, the Plaza San Francesco d'Assisi, there were two dead civilians. On the far side of the Canadian platoon, there were two dead civilians. On the far side of the Canadian platoon, there were two dead civilians.

They were troops J. N. Loomis of Winnipeg, W. H. Johnson of Kenora, Ont., Thomas Lewis of Edmonton, and H. R. Chenoweth of Brampton, Ont. With them was the Italian Coast of Peace River, Alta., who was looking for mines and booby traps.

"We've been shooting up buildings ever since we hit the edge of the town at the beginning of the battle," said one soldier. "We had to go in at night. The Germans were a little easier to get at night. They were a little easier to get at night. They were a little easier to get at night."

There was only slight rejoicing at the end of this fight. Civilians left in the town were too tired to realize the enemy had gone. The Canadians were almost buried in bullets and shells and too tired to care.

varied, though perhaps achievement in the year just closing. A summary of Edmonton and provincial events in 1943 is presented below in the Edmonton Bulletin, to bring to its readers a chronology of the year.

The Province

Outstanding event in the political arena of Alberta was the death in Vancouver, B.C., of Premier William Aberhart, which occurred Sunday, May 23. Although the premier's health had been the subject of concern for some time, his death came as a shock to the great majority of Social Credit party followers and others in Alberta.

Following Mr. Aberhart's death and burial at Vancouver, a Social Credit party caucus was held in Edmonton, B.C., on May 24, 1943, when the late premier's death was discussed. The caucus was presided over by Mr. J. H. Brown, vice-president of the party, and Mr. J. H. Brown, vice-president of the party, and Mr. J. H. Brown, vice-president of the party.

NEW CABINET

On June 1, Premier Manning announced the make-up of his new cabinet. The government's new members were: Mr. J. H. Brown, M.L.A., for Rocky Mountain House and chairman of the Alberta Land and Resources Board, and C. E. Gerhart, M.L.A., for Cochrane, became vice-premier and minister of public health. Mr. Manning's cabinet also included Mr. J. H. Brown, M.L.A., for Cochrane, and Mr. J. H. Brown, M.L.A., for Cochrane.

BY-ELECTION

Also noteworthy of importance in 1943 was the Red Deer by-election, in which David E. Hoyle, Social Credit candidate, was elected to the Alberta legislature over C.C.F. and Independent party candidates. The first test at the polls of Premier Manning's government. The Social Credit party won the election by a margin of 1,138 votes. Mr. Hoyle received 1,138 votes, while the C.C.F. candidate received 1,138 votes.

THE HOYLE VICTORY

The by-election was necessitated by the sudden death in Edmonton on Nov. 4 of Albert Hoyle, Social Credit M.L.A. of Red Deer. Mr. Hoyle had been active in the Alberta Legislature's Post-War Reconstruction Committee, and was chairman of its agricultural sub-committee.

AT LAST SESSION

Early in 1943, 41 bills were passed at the legislative session which opened in February. The most important of these included one amending the Workmen's Compensation Act, which increased the scale of compensation to widows and children, two bills providing for the building of new schools, and one which established the Post-War Reconstruction Act. The session was the longest in the history of the province, lasting for 100 days.

COAL PRODUCTION

It was a record for the department of lands and mines, appearing before the House of Commons in Ottawa, that the province's coal production in 1943 was 1,138,000 tons, an increase of 200,000 tons over the 1942 record of 938,000 tons. The increase was due to a big drop in production for the first three months of the year, which was followed by a steady increase in production for the remainder of the year.

AMEND ACT

Another act changed was the Stricken Alien Act, which was amended to allow payment on account of all children under the age of 16 years, instead of the previous ages of 12 for boys and 10 for girls. The amendment was passed by the legislature on June 1, 1943.

COMPLETE ADDITIONS

Mr. W. A. Fallow, minister of education, announced that the government had approved a plan to add $300,000 to the telephone system in the province. The plan was to add $100,000 to the telephone system in the province, and $200,000 to the telephone system in the province.

The Bulletin's SPORT SHOW by Hal Dean

HAPPY NEW YEAR to you all. And with Adolph's outlaws homed in behind their own blue line during the first moments of the current season, as a result of a beautiful Allied power play, 1944 certainly holds definite promise of being the period for putting across the crusher.

And added too by today's breakaway in the Kiev area, it is not only in hockey that the new "Red lines" are producing more "goals".

And speaking of red lines is a reminder that Edmonton fans tomorrow afternoon will have their first opportunity of seeing on local ice just how the recent N.H.L. invasion works. Ted Davidson and Dave Snodden yesterday had out the red paint-and-blue too for that matter—drawing up the 11th street hockey league in preparation for the junior league opening between E.A.C. and Canadian squads on New Year's Day.

NAVY TO HELP JUNIOR LEAGUE
Approval of the Navy Junior League last night by Canadian and Edmonton Athletic Clubs, the two organizations most affected by the new New Year's Day holiday, was not always the easiest. While there was no real reason for holding the sailors out, nevertheless, it was always the easiest thing to be so altruistic to punch yourself in the nose just to be a good fellow.

Anyway the Navy boys are in and the junior league will be all the better because of that fact. And H.M.C.S. Nonsuch in addition has almost a ready-made team to commence their schedule. E.A.C. fans will miss Jack Deane, Pete Shivers and Jerry Dea, perhaps more than the Canadians will. Bill Lancaster and But Young, because just for the moment at least they are somewhat short of one talent.

However, the league is now assured of being at the top of the hockey world for the entire season. And it is estimated that if the N.H.L. can't continue, and if after Jan. 6 the two C.A.C. teams are able to go well then that means a pretty healthy hockey circuit.

Rickey Urges Work Be Done To Aid Minors

NEW YORK, Dec. 31 (AP)—Brooklyn Dodgers president Branch Rickey said today that if baseball doesn't show a little hustle it may be reduced by proposition. Baseball as he said, is the most popular sport in the United States and the most widely seen.

At a press conference during which he said he would be called on the start of the 1945 season, the draft status of ball players would be fixed for the entire campaign, Rickey said. VANCOUVER, Dec. 31 (CP)—Sea Noddy R. C. A. F. Seahawks defeated Vancouver St. Regis 9-2 today in a Pacific Coast Senior Hockey League game before about 2,000 fans. The win gave the Air Force a two-game lead over the shorebirds.

Junior Hockey League Opens Tomorrow

Navy Entry Is Accepted Last Night

FIRST shot in the local hockey campaign will be fired at 119 Street rink tomorrow (New Year's) afternoon when the Canadian and Edmonton Athletic Clubs clash in the opening game of the City Junior Hockey League. Starting time is 3 o'clock.

Application for membership in the league of H.M.C.S. Nonsuch was approved at the meeting held on Thursday night, thus increasing the number of teams officially in the circuit to five. No. 3 "M" Depot, however, was not represented. No. 4 I.T.S. expects to carry on pending word from Command Headquarters in Calgary, interpreting the recent R.C.A.F. ruling.

In any event, the "bat" announced some days ago at Air Force Headquarters in Ottawa in connection with participation in leagues, the championship of which qualifies for entry into Allan or Memorial Cup playoffs, does not seem to have been played on Wednesday, as the original plan under the four club system was to play on Wednesday, Wednesday and Saturday.

The victory for the Calgary club, a mixture of air force and navy players, was its second of the season. The team defeated the Whalers 5-3 last night.

Play was fast and clean throughout, with many goals and goalskeepers playing outstanding games. The game was marked by numerous goal-mouth sideplay, but Blue Devils in the Calgary nets rugged Jim Henry, army captain, kept the packed arena tense with brilliant saves.

Schirner, out with a leg injury since Nov. 27, scored with just one second remaining of the win. He slammed the puck into the net.

First Shutout of Season
Schriner Scores Only Goal as Tecumseh-Mustangs Win 1-0

RED DEER, Alta., Dec. 31 (CP)—OS. Dave (Sweeney) Schirner, former Toronto Maple Leafs star, last night heralded his return to the game after a three-week layoff with the only score as Calgary Tecumseh-Mustangs blanked Red Deer Army Wheelers 1-0 in an Alberta Senior Hockey League game.

It marked the first shutout of the five-week championship. The victory for the Calgary club, a mixture of air force and navy players, was its second of the season. The team defeated the Whalers 5-3 last night.

Canadiens Outclass Wings To Increase N.H.L. Lead

MONTREAL, Dec. 31 (CP)—Montreal Canadiens strengthened their position in first place in the National Hockey League by whipping the Detroit Red Wings 5-0 before a crowd of 9,840 fans.

Detroit staged a late rally in the final period and scored two goals but Canadiens came through with four counters to outclass the visitors.

Elmer Lach got four goals and four assists during the evening. Goalie Bill Durnan was taken out after a few minutes of the mid game round when he received a cut over his face during a wild throw in by a Red Wing.

Mud Brunetteau scored class for the visitors in scoring two goals in just 1940 and 1941.

Hutchinson Wins Challenge In Travellers' Bonspiel

DEFEATING Frank Wolfe's rink in the semi-finals and Dave Milne's entry in the finals of the grand challenge Thursday, George Hutchinson's Alberta Avenue quartet captured the Blue Ribbon trophy in the United Commercial Travellers' annual bonspiel played at the Royal.

The three other competitors, British Consols, Edmonton Motors and McRae, were won by Fred Kemp, C. L. Race and George Snowden respectively. Trophies and second prizes in the four events were presented following the last draw yesterday by Glen Caldwell.

One of the most outstanding games of the playoffs and probably of the whole four-day series was the match between the Edmonton Motors yesterday morning. The match, between Race and Ed Perry, which the former won 14-13, required 44 ends to decide the winner.

BLANK END ON 13TH
The score was 13-12 in Perry's favor after the 11th end and then Race, with his last rock, took a blank end from the other end of the rink to count one and tie it up at 13-13. The game was then played on the 13th and then Race, with his last rock, again came through with one to win and move into the finals of that event where he defeated Ed Perry's rink 13-12 to capture the cup.

Hutchinson, winner of the grand challenge, knocked out the Wolfe quartet by a score of 10-6 Thursday morning and then went on to win after 11 ends in the final. Hutchinson took a 3-4 lead in the first two ends of the final and was always ahead. He counted his biggest end of the game on the eighth, 12-11 in a slender lead.

Milne, a former Granite curler defeated Gordon Bunn's entry 12-11 in a slender lead.

ANOTHER CLOSE GAME
Another close match was played between Fred Kemp and J. A. MacLeod in the final of the British Consols. Play was close all the way and after 11 ends MacLeod was out in front by one point, 11-10. But Kemp came through on the 12th and counted two to win 12-11 and take the silver in the second event.

Kemp, a Royal Club member, defeated the Fred Jenkins rink 12-11 and MacLeod counted 11-11 in the final of the British Consols. George Snowden's four found the semifinals of the British Consols. George Snowden's four found the semifinals of the British Consols.

Following are Thursday's results:
BLUE RIBBON TROPHY
Semi-final: Hutchinson 6, Wolfe 6; Milne 12, Bunn 11.
Final: Hutchinson 12, Bunn 11.
BRITISH CONSOLS TROPHY
Semi-final: Kemp 12, Jenkins 11; MacLeod 11, Bunn 11.
Final: Kemp 12, Bunn 11.

NEW YORK, Dec. 31.—Poisoned-pen letters from envious fight managers to the U.S. Navy Department caused last-minute cancellation of Wednesday night's middleweight bout between coast guardman George Kochan and Jake La Motta, according to Tex Sullivan, Kochan's pilot.

The scheduled 10-round strap was called off at 8:30 p.m., but thousands of fans—unaware of the cancellation—went to Madison Square Garden, only to find the punch emporium closed.

Premier Mike Jacobs announced "no fight" after receiving a telegram from the chief of naval personnel at Washington. It read: "The participation of George Kochan, musician's mate, second class U.S.N., in a boxing match at the Hudson river, Sullivan con-

Leroy Goldsworthy, coach of the Edmonton Athletic Club's Junior hockey team yesterday tendered his resignation. Business reasons and lack of adequate time to devote to the position were given as the cause.

Goldsworthy had taken over coaching duties of the Clubmen at the commencement of last season and was re-appointed earlier this winter.

Clayton Dolphin, president of the club stated last night that Bill Brewer, former E.A.C. alderman and coach of the midgets would handle the team for the opening game against Canadians on New Year's Day.

The E.A.C. pressy also said that Goldsworthy would retain his connection otherwise with the club and that the former coach had expressed a desire to assist the new appointee in every way possible.

It seems that the navy department remembered its ruling of June 18, 1942, which prohibits any teams or athletes from competing in commercially sponsored games or matches. This ruling has been enforced against champion Gus Lennich, Tony Zele and Fred Cochrane, but not against lesser-name fighters.

"And it wouldn't have been enforced against Kochan," declared Sullivan. "If certain envious boxing managers of the rat type had written nasty letters to the navy department—letters complaining about his being allowed to fight at the Garden. Funny they never wrote in to get his first chance at a Garden main event. I tried to get their names from the Navy department but was informed that those letters are in a confidential file."

REGRET'S CANCELLATION
JACOBS said he regretted the cancellation, "not because it cut me and the Garden's grand, but because arrangements had been made to televise it into about 60 hospitals in the New York area."

He said the cancellation would not affect his future matchmaking policy, explaining "if service men get permission to buy, I'll give them permission before I sign them up."

La Motta of New York, the No. 1 elite middleweight was a 2½ to 1 favorite to beat Kochan. At Wednesday's weigh-in, La Motta scaled 164½ pounds; Kochan, 164.

2 Butterflies Appear Result Fair Weather
Edmonton's beautiful weather has got some of nature's creatures badly mixed up. The appearance of butterflies has been reported from several sections of the city. S. C. Fredericks of 12720 120 street in the Calder section of the city, found a yellow butterfly fluttering around in the basement of his home, and Hazel Eltinger, school girl who lives at 2412 118 avenue, found another yellow butterfly in the house where she lives.

I Saw Today

in conversation with a friend on 115 street.

AND
Rosslyn Bow exchanging greetings with a friend in the central section of the city. Nela Faulkner talking over matters musical with a friend near Jasper and 101 street. Miss Mervin on the busy boulevards of the business day. Hazel Dejardina exchanging greetings with a friend in the Bonnie Dean district. Helen Kishinsky in the main business section of the city. Alice Pinkston at Jasper and 112 street. Isabel Fyle at 101 street and 302 avenue. Yvonne Field in the Highlands district.

Edmonton to Welcome New Year With Song, Dance, Good Cheer

"On with the dance! let joy be unfettered," Lord Byron's famous admonition, will be watchwords of Edmonton citizens, New Year's Eve and New Year's Day. Despite the fact this will be a wartime New Year celebration, 1944 will be rung out, and 1944 flourish by residents here.

Dances and parties will be the order of the day to welcome 1944, with special shows at the theatres, dancing on the streets, and an extravaganza of noise from whistles, bells, horns, gongs, as the clock of Old Father Time tolls the 12 o'clock knell of 1943.

The wassail-bowl custom is said to have originated with the Saxons in the "Merry England" of medieval times, when a bowl of spiced ale was passed to well-wishers. At New Year celebrations "Wass Hail" ("To Your Health"), the Saxons would acclaim, and from this saying came our word "wassail".

"First footing" is originally a Scottish custom, and first persons over the threshold of a home after midnight at New Year were called "first footers." It was considered bad luck for these persons to enter a home empty-handed, so it became the custom to bring small gifts of fruit or coins.

ANOTHER OLD CUSTOM
Another Old Country custom concerns "Reining in the New Year," when a talk-harsh man was supposed to be first to enter a residence after midnight on New Year's Eve. This first visitor must enter by the front door, walk right through the home and leave by the back door, thus bringing in good luck for the coming year, and taking out bad luck.

New Year's Day itself will be a public holiday in the province. No government offices, stores or places of business will be open. Municipal offices will be closed, and daily newspapers will not publish editions that day.

In Edmonton, a curtailed street car service will be in effect during the day, and an extended "Owl" street car service will be in operation New Year's Eve. Last street cars and trolley coaches will leave 101 street and Jasper avenue at 2 a.m. New Year's Day, last trolley coaches will leave 101 street and Jasper avenue at 1 a.m. Jan. 2, while last street cars will leave the same intersection at 2 a.m. Jan. 2.

New Year Message Given to Optimists

In a message to members of the Optimist Club at their Thursday weekly luncheon meeting at the Macdonald hotel, the Rev. Paul Young of the First Baptist church said that "the new year is a time that reminds us of the fact that life is a journey, and because it is a journey, progress is inevitable."

Mr. Young urged that "every one of us should hitch our wagon to the star" and aim high in our daily living. He pointed out that practically alone was not the most important thing in life. "We need a little of the pipe dream too, without which life would be drab and colorless."

Gets Extra Term For Jail Escape

Sentenced to serve 35 days on a charge of intoxication on Nov. 8 last, Roy Carson, alias Cap Carson, alias Brown, of no fixed abode, was sentenced Wednesday—within the confines of Fort Saskatchewan jail—to spend a further six-month period in that institution, when he pleaded guilty to escaping from the prison farm on June 22, 1938.

Apprehended by Edmonton city police, in November last, and subsequently convicted of intoxication, Cap Carson, as he was then known, was taken to Fort Saskatchewan. R.C.M.P. authorities, in checking his record, were told that he was a prisoner, and to learn that the prisoner was none other than the one who failed to end in appearance at the prison farm, on the evening of June 22, over five years ago.

Further investigation showed that Carson had had five months to serve, in 1938, on a charge of theft of a dog, when he disappeared.

The Inquiring Reporter

THE QUESTION
What is your main New Year's resolution this year?

THE ANSWER
BRYNA MICKELSON, typist: I have several resolutions tending but my main one is to write more letters more often to friends of mine in the armed forces, especially those overseas. "If I can keep this resolution, the others aren't so important."

S. BENNETT, beautician: I am not making any resolutions this year for the first time. I have never kept any of them in previous years this year I am not going to bother. I am going to try to make each day New Year's Day in the sense of giving to it my best effort and utilizing every opportunity.

RNA McMASTER, receptionist: I am reading to try to think more carefully about making purchases next year. My experience has been buying more about buying things that I don't really need or I could do without. Whenever I go out to buy anything I am going to think it over first, and then try not to buy it—especially clothing, of which I have plenty.

Archaeologist Dies
Dr. STEPHEN B. HARRIS, 68, government archaeologist and Egyptologist, died here yesterday. He was a pioneer in the study of ancient Egypt for the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York.

Has "Family"
JORDAN, Miss Dora, 31, wife of Mr. Jordan, suddenly has to take a long breath to tell about her family. She has eight living children, six grandchildren, 71 great-grandchildren and one great-great-grandchild. She is 92.

Let Us Help Make It a Happier New Year for All
By Going All Out for Victory in 1944!

THERE'S no other day in the year quite like the day before New Year's! New hopes and new aspirations. But today we have more to which to look forward—for there is a strong conviction in most minds that it is going to be a VICTORIOUS New Year. There's a long hard pull ahead of us . . . we all know that. But with increasing effort and unflinching belief in the fundamental "rightness" of our principles, the end will surely be total Victory for the Allies . . . so let's go all out for Victory and buy War Savings Certificates and War Bonds that are offered in 1944!

Thanks for Everything During the Past Year!
On this the Eve of a New Year we pause to thank you for the splendid volume of business we have enjoyed throughout the past year—1943. Johnstone Walker values more than anything else, the friendly feeling and high degree of public cooperation which has been so graciously enjoyed. Its history dating back to the early 1880s, makes it so much a part of Edmonton that it is with no small measure of pride we print here this year's message: the slogan: Edmonton's Best Store!

Most Sincerely We Wish
You and Yours
A Happier New Year

My Day

BY ELEANOR ROOSEVELT

WASHINGTON — Yesterday, in New York City, I went to the Russian War Relief office. I found a Christmas party for the children going on, with a real Santa Claus and snow maidens who, I understand, accompanied Santa Claus in Russia. They offered to dress me up as a snow maiden, but I declined that, since the extent of my activity was the bringing of one household kit. I could do that in my ordinary clothes.

These household kits contain what the Red Cross considers the essential things which a family requires to turn to a devastated home must have. Free transportation for these kits has been arranged to the U.S.S.R. through the Soviet shipping authorities. It is hoped that many families in this country will send kits of this kind to a family in Russia as a sign of the gratitude we feel for having been spared the fate of these unfortunate people.

I returned to Washington this morning and the day has gone according to schedule so far. I started out with much mail accumulated during my five days away. Eleven o'clock found us over in the executive office shaking hands with the members of the staff. This is always a Christmas Eve affair, but most of the things which we usually do on Christmas Eve have been moved up a day, so as to allow us to go up to Hyde Park.

I have had another suggestion sent in to help out with the juvenile delinquency problem, and it seems to me rather a good one. In Buffalo, N.Y., mothers and daughters are starting "T.A.C.'s" which means "Teen Age Clubs." The organization is only three months old and started with eight members in Mrs. Edward F. Freitas' home as a Junior Red Cross project. They now have three hundred members. The young people are organized on a military basis and have full charge of their own activities and management. They elect their own members to the house committee, formulate and enforce rules of conduct and penalize disobedient members. They plan eventually for a recreation center, similar to a group-up club, where youth can meet for such social activities as dances.

They will serve light refreshments, but no liquor. It will be youth's own club, open every afternoon and evening. If this has been done by one mother and her young married daughter in one locality, it surely can be duplicated in many others.

Yesterday's article dealt with two of the root vegetables—carrots and beets—and in today's article I am going to tell you about some of the others, beginning with turnips.

The turnip is said to grow in every temperate climate in the world. Having a distinct flavor, it is widely used in soups, stews and steaks. It is also cooked by itself as a separate vegetable. The most delicate flavor is found in the turnip of small size, in which the carbohydrate content is not over five per cent. The more mature the turnip, the higher the carbohydrate content, and when you are sitting at the table and eating the larger size turnip, you are getting a vegetable having carbohydrate content of about 10 per cent. In other words, you are eating a medium-starchy vegetable. Raw turnips are considered good sources of vitamin C.

Parsnips, when mature, are credited with a carbohydrate content of 15 per cent. The fleshy white root possesses a flavor which is enjoyed by many, although others dislike it. Some growers leave a part of the crop in the ground through the winter, believing that the flavor will be better when this is done, than when the roots are dug and stored away. Apparently freezing does not injure parsnips. This vegetable is ranked as a good source of vitamin B.

Oyster Plant or Salib, should be used as young as possible before the turnip has had time to develop. The flavor is very bland and agreeable. Do not scrape the oyster plant, but wash well with a vegetable brush and cook in plain water. The oyster plant is seasoned with cream and butter the flavor will easily resemble that of an oyster stew. Oyster plant is a very wholesome non-starchy vegetable and deserves a much wider use.

Because of rutabaga being in that class of non-starchy vegetable which may easily cause fermentation, I suggest that they be used with caution by those troubled with any tendency toward excessive stomach and intestinal gas. Those in good health who do not notice any after their use, may take them occasionally for the sake of variety.

The rutabaga is also called the Swedish Turnip and the carbohydrate content is around nine per cent. The yellow flesh has a taste somewhat similar to that of the turnip, being fairly sweet.

Celeriac, also called Knub Celery, or Turnip Celery, is a variety of celery grown for its large, edible root. It may be added to soups and stews, and will be found to add to the flavor.

When you run out of ideas about what winter vegetable to serve I suggest that you look over this list I have given you. Perhaps it will provide you with a suggestion which is usable.
